BEYOND BABY MD LLC

Consumer Health Data Privacy Policy

Effective December 1, 2026

This policy explains how Beyond Baby MD LLC handles consumer health data: information that identifies you and could reveal your physical or mental health. It doesn't cover medical records from your care as a patient, which are protected by HIPAA and described in the Boston Urogyn Notice of Privacy Practices. Our general Privacy Policy explains how we handle all other information.

Consumer health data we collect and why

Category	Example	Why we collect it
Pregnancy and postpartum stage	"6 to 12 weeks postpartum" on a sign-up form	To send guidance matched to your stage
Symptoms or health questions you choose to share	A question to our AI education engine	To answer you and show safety messages when needed
Assessment and survey answers	Pelvic Health Assessment responses	To give you your results and, if you ask for a visit, help prepare it

Sources: directly from you, through our website, app and forms.

How we use it: only to provide the service you asked for, as described above, or with your consent. We don't use consumer health data for advertising.

Who we share it with: only service providers that act for us, in these categories: website hosting and security, email and customer relationship management, secure data storage, and AI processing for the education engine. When you request an appointment, we share your request with our affiliated clinical practice, Boston Urogyn, LLC, which schedules and provides your care. We do not sell consumer health data.

Your rights: you can ask to know what consumer health data we hold and who we have shared it with, to have it deleted, and to withdraw your consent. Email privacy@beyondbabymd.com with the subject “Health data request.” We respond within 45 days and won’t treat you differently for asking. If we deny your request, you can appeal by replying to our decision; if the appeal is denied, you may contact the Washington Attorney General.
